WHAT THIS IS ABOUT

TDOT requires all local governments complete both a full day workshop on the Local Government Guidelines and a workshop on Right-of-Way and NEPA procedures to be eligible for any federally and state funded transportation project. The workshop is divided into three sessions. The Local Government Guidelines Manual (LGGM) certification is good for three years.

Session 1: The Local Government Guidelines workshop will provide a detailed overview of the process required to manage federally and state funded transportation projects. Failure to follow procedures included in this workshop can jeopardize the receipt of federally and state funding for your eligible transportation projects.

The Local Government Guidelines manual can be found at http://www.tn.gov/assets/entities/tdot/attachments/LGG_Manual.pdf

Session II: The Right-of-Way workshop will address the activities involved with but is not limited to land acquisition, relocation assistance, and utility relocations. The Right-of-Way process is quite specific and detailed. Deviations from the process can easily jeopardize funding for all phases of project development. Attendance in this workshop is mandatory for individual(s) who will oversee and approve the right-of-way process and/or the utility process. Local agencies that have not completed this class will not be allowed to oversee federal and state funded projects that require land acquisition, relocation assistance or utility relocation.

Session III: The NEPA workshop goes over the environmental process to ensure compliance with state/federal rules and guidance. The NEPA workshop will take participants through the NEPA review and documentation process.
